Japan Student Wins Seminary Study Grant

By LESLIE LUERGAN

In Greek, "Agape" means an all-embracing love, and that's the idea behind the Agape Fellow tradition at San Francisco Theological Seminary.

Each year students and administrators of the San Anselmo Presbyterian school contribute funds for a grant of $1,000, which is given to an overseas student. The grant enables his pursuit of theological studies at the seminary beyond those available to him in his own country.

Nobuyoshi Joseph Kikuchi is the Seminary's Agape Fellow this year.

SACRAMENTO (A) - The Highway Patrol's request for 119 more officers next year was rejected 8-7 by the Assembly Ways and Means Committee last night.

The action, if sustained by the Legislature, would maintain the patrol at present strength for another year.

Denial of additional officers was recommended by a subcommittee headed by Assemblyman Carlos Bee (D-Hayward). He said the Highway Patrol had been given 704 new officers in the last five years, and demanded an investigation to see if more are needed.

Assemblyman Glenn E. Coolidge (R-Felton) called the committee's action "awfully poor judgment." He said the increase in patrol strength in recent years has hardly kept pace with the increased traffic.

Jordan, Akins Even Bet In Title Fight

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (UPI) — Everything was going for young Don Jordan today, but the young welterweight champion was no better than an even bet to defeat a "hungry" ex-titleholder, Virgil Akins, tonight in their nationally-televised return bout.

On Jordan's side was youth, confidence and an impressive record. He won the crown from Akins Dec. 6 and since then knocked out one other foe to run his winning streak to 11 fights. He has Tom Smith was the only keglast 18 matches.

$50,000 GATE

Despite the disparity in their records, a crowd of upwards of 7,500 was expected to pay between $50,000 and $55,000 to watch them go for the championship in a 15 rounds battle.

Odds-makers listed the bout as 3-4, meaning the gambler can pick his favorite and then win 75 cents for each dollar

Should the fight go the distance, Jordan should be the winner. Though he has won 48 bouts and lost only 11, he has scored only 15 knockouts. In his first match with Akins, he was a masterful boxer, working inside, shoving and pushing to stifle Akins' most powerful punches, for a handy decision on points.

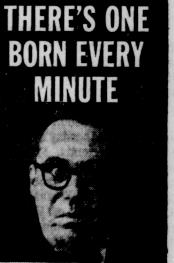

Akins has knocked out 30 opponents in winning 49 fights. but he has lost 19 bouts and has been knocked out twice.

The U.S. Air Force All-Star volleyball team yesterday defeated the U.S. Army team, 15-11, 16-14 in the first match for the Armed Forces Championship at San Rafael High School gymnasium.

The teams will play at the Hamilton Air Force Base gymnasium at 8 o'clock tonight, to determine the championship in the best-of-three series. Should the Army team win, the playoff game will be played after a 20-minute intermission.

Paced by the smart serving of Airman Second Class Neil Eldredge, assigned to Headquarters of the Pacific Air Force, the Airmen parlayed sparkling defensive court play into the victory. Eldredge served nine of the Air Force's points in the second match of the game, including a run of six which brought the Airmen to a tie from an 8 to 14 deficit. TAMALPAIS LIQUOR DELICATESSEN

Parents Split On Coleman School 'Annex'

Parents attending a meeting last night on the plan to increase the number of classrooms at Coleman School in San Rafael were about evenly divided on whether new rooms should be built at Coleman or near San Rafael High School.

Asst. Supt. Raymond J. Simpson said about 30 parents attended the meetings, at which the two proposals were presented by Supt. Frank L. Lucas.

Because Coleman has only seven classrooms, and the attendance area contains enough children for a 13-room school. San Rafael Elementary School District is planning an expan-

Lucas outlined the problem of a small school site at Coleman-only about two acresand the fact that a drainage ditch would have to be filled for an addition. He said the district would like to have at least an eight-acre site for any

Also discussed were the problems of traffic and the closeness of the high school to the proposed site near the district administration office on Mission street. Lucas said the problems could be overcome.

If a new "annex" is built, the lower grades would attend the present Coleman School, and the fourth, fifth and sixth grades would attend the new classrooms.

Simpson said a show of hands on the proposals indicated parents are evenly divided on the plans. Lucas will report on this to the board of education at an early meeting.

Flowers, all varieties and colors, were in full bloom on Wednesday when more than 120 women attended the annual "Fresh Flower Hat" luncheon of the Garden Section of the Corte Madera Women's Improvement Club at the Corte Madera Recreation Center.

Always a colorful event, this one seemed to surpass all previous affairs. The garden section has a small membership but the luncheon always draws guests from all parts of the county and from across the bay.

The headgear revealed great ingenuity and designs ranged from a Maypole to "Tea for Two." Awards for the prettiest hats went to Mesdames Max Graefe, Richard Mills and Beth Kessler; for the funniest to Mesdames John Smoot. Andre Claeys and Harry Tress; and for the most original to Mesdames James J. Cannon, M. B. Hodges and John Judges were Mrs. Archie (Mabelle) Culpepper, realtor whose hobby is her nursery; Kay Eubanks, floral decorator; Florence Donnelly, society and woman's page editor of the Independent-Journal, and Nora Helton, head of Macy's, San Rafael, cosmetic department.

Mrs. N. B. Cooper, garden section chairman, presided at the luncheon, which was preceded by serving of punch. Mrs. Nell Yahuens and Mrs. Frank Wesel were in charge of this detail. The table decorations were lovely with miniature hats on standards, marking the covers at the head table. Mrs. F. V. Slusher and Mrs. Harvey Warne were in charge of decorations, Mrs. Lillian Torrence and Mrs. Ray Treasher of reservations and Mrs. H. W. Dahlgren of awards.

Three Hats Win Honors At Luncheon

Funny hats - beautiful chapeaux-old fashioned bonnets and head gear defying description appeared at Tuesday's "Crazy Hat" luncheon attended by members of the Mill Valley Tennis Club.

Winning honors in three categories were Mrs. Donn Nissen for the most beautiful with a confection of pink tulle and two doves of peace; Mrs. Richard Kemp for the most hilarious, with a baseball cap trimmed with hot dog, peanuts and baseball tickets; and Mrs. John L. Kane for the most original with a scooped out loaf of bread adorned on top with martini glass, complete with olive.

Decor done by Mrs. Frederick Vandyke consisted of paper hats for table centerpieces and arranged on the piano and fireplace mantel, and there was a display in one corner of collector's item head gear.

For the program, Mrs. Karl Romaine of the Romaine Photographic Studio in San Francisco talked on how to "Put Your Best Face Forward" and demonstrated techniques by using Mrs. Stephen Kramer and president Mrs. Jack Younger as models.

Social chairman Mrs. Jock Murphy was assisted by Mesdames Vandyke, Kane, Robert B. Earl, Donald R. Harper, and Leland Harris.

Jack Murphy, social chairman and Donn Nissen who won the prize for the most beautiful hat. Mrs. Karl Romaine of Romaine Photographic Studio in San Francisco was guest speaker.

Abalone Study Is Perfect Example Of Interim Waste

Legislative interim committees are one of the best methods the state's solons have to gather information on specific problems which face them. Particularly is this true in trying to gain information on how the people feel about a particular issue.

On the other hand, interim committees also are among the worst offenders in useless waste of tax funds. This is because often an "interim study" is used as a sop to a legislator and his pet project. Thus the state spends $10,000 or $20,000 on a useless study.

Such is the case with the proposed commercial abalone fishing bill which would open the North Coastal waters to the fish-for-pay boys. This is the situation:

The Division of Fish and Game is just completing a study requested eight years ago of the advisability of opening the waters off the Marin, Sonoma and Mendocino shores to the commercial fishermen.

In testimony before the Assembly Fish and Game Committee this week, the division's deputy director listed four criteria which govern the use of an area by commercial fishermen. The absence of any one of these, he said, would seriously jeopardize success of any commercial abalone fishing.

The results of the just-completing study by the division, he went on, shows that the North Coast waters did not qualify in any of the four vital areas.

In the face of such testimony, and on the insistence of two assemblymen from commercial fishing districts, the fish and game committee put into an interim committee study a bill which would open the North Coastal waters to abalone fishing.

It is beyond us to understand what the interim committee is expected to find out that the department study hasn't now determined. It will allow one assemblyman to be appointed chairman. It will allow a number of hearings attended by a number of assemblymen who will get both $20 per day fee per meeting for attending and 15 cents per mile mileage from their homes to and from the meetings.

Thus it will cost the taxpayers $10,000 or so to learn the exact same thing the fish and game division has just found out at a cost of another $10,000 or so.

But who cares? It's only tax money!!!

Who Says Gulls Are Stupid?

Over on the Coast Highway near Stinson Beach we recently observed something which still has us shaking our head in mild disbelief.

We never credited gulls with much brainpower, but what we saw made us revise our estimate drastically upwards.

Two gulls were flying high above the highway and dropping shellfish on the hard surface to crack them open. They'd then fly down to eat the contents.

We watched this happen several times to make sure we are not dreaming. A litter of broken shells on the road attested to the fact it was not an isolated phenomenon.

Don't ask us what kind of gull. We were too surprised to think of identifying it exactly. It was only when we got home and commenced to think about it that we realized that here was an act which required considerable intelligence. No. gulls aren't so dumb.

In the April 7 issue of the Independent-Journal, Mr. Roscoe Drummond headed his column "Italy Has Taken Courageous Step, Deserves Recognition of West" in making the decision to station NATO's intermediate range missile with atomic warhead on Italian soil. Mr. Drummond suggested in his first paragraph that "If they had the opportunity the American people, I think, would like nothing better than to stand up and salute a courageous, riskful, and determined ally."

May I speak for the countless terrified Americans who salute Italy as having made a great international mistake following the Pied Piper of Hamlin leadership of United States foreign policy. Italy, too, has now made its country the retaliation bull's eye target for Moscow missiles. Is this courage? Or lack of

One might well examine why, as Mr. Drummond comments, NATO 18 months ago "gingerly" accepted in principle the United States offer that NATO be equipped with IRBM's. Is this self-defense? Or self-destruction?

begun. By mid-1960, when missiles are hidden underground, inspection will be virtually impossible and the world will face a point of no return in ultimate peril. Until recently the development of weapons technologies appeared to be plausibly justified in order to secure a superior military position. The chance of attaining such superiority, however, has become a remote possibility, at best. The "balance of power" has deteriorated into a dangerously unstable "balance of terror." Accordingly, the concepts and methods of the "balance of power" orientation should be reviewed. Alternative polices are needed for curtailing, instead of perpetuating, the arms race.

School Districts Taking Over Special Services; Save County Money

The Kentfield School Dis- with $4,000 to use some place trict board this week started something that may grow.

Kentfield trustees accepted a recommendation by Supt. Harold DePue that the district discontinue contracting with the county schools department for part-time services of a guidance counselor, and share one instead with the San Anselmo School District. San Anselmo trustees are to act on the proposal at their next meeting.

The effect of this is simply to remove one man from the county schools payroll - and add one to the payroll in the Kentfield and San Anselmo districts. Kentfield and San Anselmo each used the county provided counselor three days each week this year.

The Mill Valley School District board is considering a similar plan.

SOME INTERPRET this as a slap in the fact to the new county superintendent, Virgil Hollis. But Hollis sees it as a financial boon to the budgetpinched county school department.

Each counselor costs the county department about $12,-000 a year for salary, administration of his job and secretarial work attendant on it, according to Hollis. The state pays $8,000. This means the county must make up $4,000.

If the Kentfield and San Anselmo boards hire the counselor themselves, whatever it costs them to administer the job and take care of the secretarial work will be their own expense. The $8,000 from the state will pay the man's sal-

BROADMOOR AVENUE in San Anselmo has a nice new surface. "Contractor" on the job was Nello Marcucci, who did it with city labor crews. Marcucci has just one complaint. He rather likes to surface streets, but he wishes the city would buy him a new roller for the work. The cityowned roller has broken down beyond repair, and the city has to rent one each time the street department has a surfacing job to do.

QUITE A FEW property owners along Fifth avenue in San Rafael have nice new side walks. "Contractor" on those jobs was Norris Rawles, the city's public works superintendent.

Rawles called city fathers' attention recently to a number of holes and humps in sidewalks. If someone were to be injured because of them, the city might be held responsible along with the property owner, he pointed out.

The city council authorized Rawles to notify the property owners the sidewalks must be fixed - and, if they didn't have it done, to do the job with city crews. This writer, who pounds

German Ambassador's Answer On Divided Berlin Is Defeatist Type

Last week the German Em- blunder. It ignores the fact bassy in Washington published an address delivered by the German ambassador in which he replied to a series of articles which I wrote recently on the Two Germanys and Berlin.

Dr. Grewe argues his case fairly and in good temper. But the sum and substance of his plea is that all proposals for negotiation thus far are bad. and that any change from the a few weeks back, Khrushchey status quo would be a change for the worse.

In my view it is a dismal and defeatist attitude to insist that it is not possible to improve, that it is possible only to worsen, the present situation. Moreover, even if this were true, it is a counsel of despair. For it is sheer fantasy to suppose that the present situation can be maintained as it is for the indefinite future.

DR. GREWE WHO, besides being ambassador, is a principal legal advisor to his government, goes so far as to declare that "every new treaty arrangement on Berlin can only worsen the situation."

"Every" is a big word. Why does he use it? Because, he says, "if you negotiate a new treaty basis with the Soviets for Western presence in and Western access to Berlin, you concede, first of all, that it is within the power of the Soviet Union to grant such rights to the West."

This is a strange argument. Why does a new statute or treaty about Berlin have to make any such preposterous concession to the Soviet Union Why cannot the new statute or treaty recognize and reaffirm the right of the Western Allies to be present in Ber-

TO ARGUE THAT "every new treaty arrangement" can only surrender our rights in Berlin, that no new treaty arcognize and reaffirm the rights, is not a legal or political proposition. It is a political neurosis engendered by profound self-distrust.

It is, moreover, a diplomatic of the great change in the Soviet position between November of last year and March of this year.

In the Soviet note of Nov. 27, 1958, the U.S. S. R. asserted that the Four Power Occupation Agreement of 1944 and 1945 had become "null and void." On March 19, just declared that the Western governments "have lawful rights for the deployment of troops as occupiers." Surely, it would be a mistake not to propose that this be put in writing.

IT WOULD NOT DO us any thing but good to have our lawful rights clarified and reaffirmed. There is considerable confusion about them The State Department lawyers have been talking about our being in Berlin by "right of conquest."

But according to Dr. Grewe himself the right of conquest does not exist. It "has been overruled by the common declaration of the victorious allies that they did not intend the annexation of Germany (declaration regarding the defeat of Germany, June 5, 1945)." Considering all this there is good reason, it seems to me, for taking advantage of Khrushchev's admission to tidy up our legal position.

BUT THAT IS by no means the only or the most important reason for negotiating a new statute. A substantial reason is that it would afford the chance to correct our past mistakes, to make precise the exceedingly loose and vague documents under which we, the allies, and also the West German civilians deal with West Berlin.

In my view, the Western powers will be very unwise indeed if they do not consolidate the legal position in West Berlin before the Soviet government makes a peace treaty with the East German state.

First some words of caution. A few Little League teams are coached by the wrong men. The governing boards try to prevent that. They appoint only the men they think are good. But sometimes they make mistakes. A few coaches want to win too much. A few play favorites. Some use bad language. If your boy is on a team with a bad coach, withdraw him. Don't compromise.

Watch yourself, too. You'll want your son's team to win. You'll root for him. That's okay. But don't overdo it. Don't make winning the most important thing in life. Be sure not to scold your son when he makes bad errors. I've known of two boys who tried to kill themselves because of mistakes made in ball games. One of them succeeded. # Marin Schools Will Welcome Visiting Public Next Week

Open Houses Slated For Annual Event

The janitors will sweep the floors extra clean and polish the brasswork extra bright next week in Marin County's public schools.

The teachers will strive even harder than usual to interest and inform their young charges.

And even the pupils may pay a little closer attention than is customary.

The reason: It's Public Schools Week, starting Monday. That's the week each spring when the schools hold open house and present special programs for visiting parents (and just plain taxpayers who have no children).

This is the 40th year that the schools of California have observed the special week, according to County Supt. Virgil S. Hollis. The observance this year is keyed to a double barreled theme: "Keep Faith in Our Country-Know and Support the Public Schools."

The following open house observances are announced by the county superintendent and the various school districts:

Elementary schools: BOLINAS-Tuesday, 7:30 to 9 p.m. and all week during school hours.

NOVATO - West Novato

By LEON C. SMITH

I must confess that I am not a lover of or a collector of antiques. But if YOU are - a mecca for lovers of antiques will be the Seventh Annual Antique Show and Sale in Mill Valley's American Legion Hall, April 23-26. Hours will be noon to 10 p.m. daily and noon to 8 p. m. on Sunday. $1.00 admission for adults and 25c for children good for the show's duration, and you can browse around to your heart's content. Twentynine dealers from all over the West Coast will display and sell fascinating antique furniture and accessories — so this is your chance to view many rare objects of art. The place again — Mill Valley's American Legion Hall. It is pleasing to know that the net proceeds go to the Episcopalian Church of Our Savior in Mill Valley. We at the J. E. French Co. are proud to announce that we are the distributors for the Lambretta Motor Scooter for the county of Marin. It has amazed me to learn that here is transportation not only for the teen agers in the family, but can be used as a second or third motor car in the family. ONE HUNDRED MILES TO THE GALLON. This is a little contrast to the 9-12-14 miles to the gallon that many cars get nowadays. Commercial body styles for a multitude of uses are available also. J. E. FRENCH Co., 1542 Fourth St. San Rafael. DODGE, PLY-MOUTH, SIMCA distributors.

SACRAMENTO (A)-Assemblýman Pauline Davis (D-Portola) agreed yesterday to call off her move to strip the state Park Commission of its policymaking power.

Mrs. Davis' measure to remove the commission's power has passed the Assembly and is awaiting action before a Senate committee. She said she will change the measure to make it call only for transfer of all administrative powers to the director of natural resources.

She said Gov. Edmund G. Brown changed her mind by his personal request and by appointing two new members-Will Rogers Jr. of Malibu and Joseph C. Houghteling of San
